INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE OF DENTISTS
1979-1980

FRANKLIN M. KENWARD

The International College of Dentists is an instrument of understanding and friendship. I believe all of us are concerned about the tensions which pervade our world today and, as members of a non-political international fellowship, we are in a position to contribute to intercommunication and, ultimately, a more peaceful world.

As dentists we share professional obligations with dentists in every country and our profession offers the common ground for true understanding. What happens tomorrow will be directly affected by what we do today.

The exchange of knowledge is mandatory! When two merchants get together and exchange their products each gives up part of his possessions. But when dentists exchange knowledge, each keeps their own and acquires that of the other. This exchange of information can be accomplished in many different ways.

Two years ago the I.C.D. initiated a 50th anniversary tour to the Orient. The people-to-people relationship within our membership was beautiful. It was international understanding at its finest level. Personal invitations to homes and offices, as well as visits to dental schools and clinics, provided an exchange of individual and professional knowledge that was heartwarming. We completed the tour imbued with the desire to provide the same sort of welcome to foreign professionals who might visit with us.

Now we will have another opportunity to strengthen bonds of affection and understanding among Fellows of the I.C.D. by attending the presentation of a charter to a new unit of the College, Section Four of South America. The South American Section was voted autonomy by the executive council of the I.C.D. last Oct. 19 in Dallas, Tex., and will receive its charter Jan. 16, 1981, in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Dr. Dioracy Vieira of San Paulo, President of the new Section, has invited all I.C.D. Fellows to participate in the charter ceremonies which will include a formal installation of officers and new Fellows, followed by a reception and banquet. Installation rites also will be held in Buenos Aires, Argentina; Santiago, Chile, and Lima, Peru. Special travel arrangements are being made for Fellows from other parts of the world who wish to attend these festivities, the details of which will be found elsewhere in this publication.

We extend congratulations to the new officers of the South American Section who are: Dr. Vieira of Brazil, president; Dr. Nicholas Parula of Argentina, president elect; Dr. Ruben Quintana of Chile, vice president; Dr. Julio Begazo of Peru, registrar-treasurer, and Dr. Carlos Leon-Diaz of Venezuela, editor.

These are days of uncertainty and great concern in the world. Relations between the superpowers have become more abrasive than they have been in years. Flash points, such as Iran and Afghanistan, seem to erupt almost overnight.

The resolution of these problems is in the hands of national leaders and all the world prays that they will succeed. These grave matters lie far beyond the province of any single profession such as our own.

And yet, in this time of strife and tension, it is somehow reassuring to know that our International College of Dentists is continuing with its mission of building bridges of friendship and information exchange between our colleagues in all parts of the world. That remains the primary role of the I.C.D., as it has been since our founding in 1927.

At the close of the last decade, we noted with pride the sisterhood agreement established between the University of Florida College of Dentistry and the Tokyo Dental College for the mutual development of educational and research programs. The I.C.D. was much involved in the planning for this agreement. Our Visiting Scholars Program brought a Fellow of the College from Japan to the United States for a well-received tour. A large group of I.C.D. members and other colleagues took part in dental seminars in Japan, Taiwan, Manila, and Hong Kong, and some of them also visited mainland China, Bali, Singapore, and Bangkok.

Now, as a new decade has begun, we can look to the further extension and strengthening of bridges of understanding between dentists in many nations. A new Outreach effort has been initiated by our Nebraska Chapter and will involve sending professional books to the dental college at the University of The Philippines. Contributions to this effort will be made by the C. V. Mosby Co. and by the dental schools of Northwestern, Washington (St. Louis), and Indiana University. The books will be transported by the U.S. Navy. Emerging countries have a great need for this type of help and I hope our efforts can be expanded.

The long-awaited formation of an autonomous South America section of the College will be realized in January, 1981, when the charter will be presented at a convocation in Brazil. Chapters will come to fruition in Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires, Santiago, and Lima, as a wonderful culmination of some 15 years of plans, preparations, and dreams.

I had the good fortune of meeting many of our colleagues in Puerto Rico, where I discussed the impact of economic, political, and social changes on the practice of dentistry at the University of Puerto Rico.

Ruthe and I are enjoying the personal role we are able to play in establishing friendships with I.C.D. Fellows and their families throughout the world. As I write this, we are getting ready for an extensive visit to the Far East that will take us to Korea, Formosa, Hong Kong, The Philippines, and Kyoto and Tokyo, Japan, with a final stop in Hawaii. I will be addressing many dental groups, attending scientific sessions, and visiting dental schools, all with the ultimate aim of stimulating the exchange of scientific knowledge and the solidification of international fellowship through dentistry.

We look forward with much anticipation to this journey and we hope to have similar opportunities in other parts of the world during the remainder of our term.

In these perilous days and hours, the I.C.D. continues quietly to extend the hand of friendship across the world's many dividing lines. May it always be so.

GEORGE D. SELFRIDGE

The President-Elect of the College, Joseph W. Tamari, comes from Beirut, Lebanon.

Joe Tamari was born on December 22, 1923, to a family of merchants. His father dealt in commodities and was a citrus grower and exporter. From his early childhood Joe and his three brothers would go to their father's office and "play business" in a corner of the premises.

When it came to choosing a profession Joe was inclined towards one of the health sciences. After matriculating in 1939 at the age of 16, he entered the Dental School at the French Faculty of Beirut, as the American University of Beirut Dental School had just closed its doors because of financial trouble.

His four years of dental education were a success, with Joe at the top of his class throughout. He graduated in 1943 when the Second World War was still raging and dental equipment was in short supply. The first years following graduation were difficult ones — what with the war and the possibility of traveling non-existent. It was not until the end of 1949, when Joe joined the Arabian American Oil Company in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, that his meaningful dental career actually started. Those were wonderful pioneering days for Joe. During the seven years he spent with Aramco, he not only learned more about dentistry from his American colleagues, but also learned at first hand how a giant business operates. It was in those days that he was exposed to the principles of wages and salaries, employee relations, government relations, industrial compensation and labor laws, etc . . .

The demands of his job also necessitated that he be more conversant in hospital dentistry, oral surgery and related subjects. In order to gain this expertise, he took graduate courses in England and felt privileged to train under, and associate with, the leaders in these specialties. Periodically throughout his professional career he would seek from them answers to his problems and then return to the field to translate them into action.

During his years with Aramco he was constantly motivated to pursue advanced dental education. In early 1957 he resigned from Aramco, took courses at the Royal College of Surgeons in England and then passed an entrance examination (covering the basic and clinical sciences) for Northwestern University Dental School. He again enrolled as an undergraduate working towards another D.D.S. Joe felt this was better than specializing, as it afforded him the opportunity of becoming exceptionally well grounded in the various disciplines of dentistry rather than in one or two.

In December 1958 he graduated from Northwestern and after spending another six months on an educational tour of England and the Continent, he returned to Beirut and established a successful private practice.

He was invited to join the I.C.D. in 1961 and lost no time in building around it an organization which, with the cooperation of the dental graduates of the American University of Beirut, helped launch in 1963 the first Middle East Dental Assembly. It turned out to be a resounding success and subsequently became an established program.

Until that time, postgraduate education had been more or less dormant and this activity, along with others, contributed a great deal towards creating a new era. It was during this period that Joe played an active role by serving as the Vice President of the Lebanese Dental Association and President of its Scientific Committee.

In 1964 Joe married the girl behind the scene, who had been doing the paper work and contributing to the success of dental meetings. It was a happy team from the start and proved to be even more so in the middle of later adversities. Nadia became Joe's constant companion everywhere.

In 1975 the civil war in Lebanon broke out. Joe and Nadia and their two sons came to the states, where Joe was invited to join the faculty at Northwestern University Dental School. His time was divided between the Department of Oral Diagnosis and the Multiphasic Clinic. He taught a course in occlusion and also one in treatment planning.

He returned to Beirut in the fall of 1978 to resume his private practice, but maintained his association with Northwestern as visiting lecturer. He is proud of his association with Northwestern and regards it as a meaningful and rewarding one.

In addition to his untiring pursuit of clinical excellence, Joe has been engaged in dental research for the last fifteen years and has published papers on muscle function, mechanics of pain inhibition and school dental health in Lebanese primary schools. He still spends one day per week with his cats at the American University of Beirut, where, among other functions, he holds a position in the Department of Human Morphology.

In spite of the many demands on his time, Joe often finds himself involved in a heavy lecturing schedule, which has taken him several times to various Middle Eastern countries.

In civic life Joe is also very active and keeps busy in a number of local benevolent organizations. He enjoys membership in the American College of Dentists, The Pierre Fauchard Academy, the Academy of General Dentistry, the G.V. Black Society and the John Evans Club.

Joe fondly recalls his days as a star soccer player and a swimmer. He also enjoyed tennis, but had to give it up in later years following an injury to his palm. He now enjoys a challenging game of bridge and tries hard to keep in good physical condition by walking one hour per day and doing gym exercises three times per week.

L.D. Pankey's teachings have had a great impact on Joe's professional life. He is a strong believer in Pankey's philosophy and is a frequent visitor of the Pankey Institute in Miami. He tries to pattern his daily practice after those teachings, but he admits occasional failures in this pursuit. This is, perhaps, part of being human.

In spite of the adversities and difficult times Joe has encountered in life, he is always thankful for the many blessings which the Lord has been good to bestow on him and his family.

From the days when gold foil manipulation was taught by Charles E. Woodbury, a man who commanded the respect of student and graduate alike, one of his astute remarks sticks indelibly in my memory. "Do every restoration better than the last one, for improvement has no stopping place."

This thinking can apply to practically every daily challenge we encounter. I relate this to my 18 years of International College affiliation where I have witnessed the work of two Registrars who constantly had improvement in mind.

At our Executive Committee meeting in Chicago, we discussed projects that indicate ongoing concerted action. Among them is "Operation Outreach," a plan conceived by Fellow Ray Grove of Nebraska to send dental books and periodicals to the Philippine Section of the I.C.D. for distribution to dental schools there. Regents and deputy regents have contacted local libraries for donations of surplus items which are being shipped to the Philippines aboard U.S. Navy vessels from San Diego. Every member of the U.S.A. Section will have an opportunity to contribute to this effort.

Nine years ago the U.S.A. Section began presenting awards to editors of outstanding dental publications for excellence in journalism. This year 131 entries vied for the awards presented at the annual ADA sponsored journalism conference in April, and additional categories were established in order to recognize the widely divergent types of publications.

A charter will be presented to a new autonomous South America Section next January in conjunction with an I.C.D. tour and exchange of knowledge through clinics in five South American cities.

Our finance committee has wisely invested our dues monies in certificates of deposit to obtain maximum interest on fully-insured funds. Operating costs affect the College as they do other enterprises and many expenses have increased. Knowing that today our finances are in a healthy state is indeed heartwarming.

The class to be inducted in New Orleans Oct. 11 is complete, and the related activities have been pretty well wrapped, ribbon and all, at this early date.

So, in summary, it appears College activities are in accord with Instructor Woodbury's sage advice, for which yours truly, the Executive Committee, Regents et al are all very, very proud.

CARL W. RASMUSSEN
President U.S.A. Section

President Elect of The U.S.A. Section, George Jackson (Jack) Collings was born on July 27, 1920 and raised in Montana.

His father was a mining engineer, and the family moved from one mining town to another. Jack's father died when he was eight, and he and his mother and two sisters went to live with his mother's two bachelor brothers and father. They lived on a wheat ranch near Sun River, Montana. The nearest school was five miles away and in the snowy Montana winter it was a chore to attend. Jack's grandfather had a wonderful library full of old classics and it was there that Jack developed his love of fine literature. The wheat ranch had lots of rattlesnakes to snare, rabbit, birds and arrow-head hunting. Trapping in the winter was also part of the activities. Seeing the fine balance of nature helped develop the importance of conservation. The heritage of the "OLD WEST" and history of the Indian, took on a new meaning, which led to his collection of artifacts and, eventually, an extensive library of the West.

During his senior year in high school, he met Ruth Phillips who was to become his wife. After graduation from high school, he attended Montana State University in Bozeman, Montana for three years where Ruth graduated from nurses' training. Jack and Ruth were married in 1943 at Ruth's parents cattle ranch in Montana.

Jack's undercover disguise

Ruth, Jack and daughter, Beth

Their first home was in Seattle, Washington, where Jack completed his undergraduate education. In 1945, they moved to Portland, Oregon and Jack attended the University of Oregon Dental School graduating in 1949. Jack was active in the Psi Omega Dental Fraternity and was elected President of Chi Chapter in 1948.

Jack and Ruth were blessed with one child, a daughter, Elizabeth (Beth) born in 1950. As she grew up, the love of outdoors promoted many family camping trips and travel to historic sites. Beth graduated in June, 1980, in Dentistry, at the University of Oregon Health Science Center. Quoting Beth: "Dad's own personal enthusiasm for his profession and quest for knowledge, has been great encouragement and inspiration to me, throughout the years." Jack feels great pride in the fact she has chosen his profession.

Though they only had one child, there are many young people who call the Collings' home a "haven." They are called #1 son, #2 son, etc. and that applies to the female gender, as well. Over the years, there are about 12 that are still part of their lives. Both parents and Beth feel it has made caring, sharing, and living a richer and more meaningful relationship with everyone. They call them "Their Extended Family."

Upon graduation, Jack received the Oral Surgery Scholastic Award. After two years of post-graduate work, he started practicing Oral Surgery in Portland. He continued his activities in his fraternity and served as assistant, Deputy Counselor for 10 years and President of the Alumni Chapter of Psi Omega. This work was interrupted by the Korean War, in which he was Chief of Oral Surgery at Hamilton Air Force Base in California and Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii, during years 1953 — 1955. When he returned to civilian life, he was elected as Province I Counselor of Psi Omega from 1966 — 1972, and was National President in 1969 — 1970. This was followed by Secretary-Treasurer, Vice President, and President of National Dental Interfraternity Council. He is still active in the Fraternity and was proud to pin his own daughter when she was initiated into Psi Omega.

In 1960, Jack was inducted into I.C.D. and has served as Counselor and Deputy Regent for Oregon, and in 1972 was appointed Regent of the 11th District. He held this position for six years . . . receiving the "Regent of the Year" award in 1978. Jack feels very honored to be a Fellow in the I.C.D. It has been exciting and rewarding and his aims and ideals have broadened through exchange of Fellowship nationally and internationally.

"Father-daughter Duo" following 10,000 meter race. (Jack received the trophy for being "oldest to finish.")

Jack served as Secretary and Treasurer of the University of Oregon Dental School Alumni Association from 1969 — 1971 and President from 1971 — 1973. During his two years, as president, he worked in forming the "Dean's Club" . . . whereby Alumni could contribute money to construct a post-graduate facility. Jack and Dean Terkla lectured on this subject for two years to every state dental meeting in the west . . . including Hawaii and Alaska. The post-graduate department has become a reality and Jack was elected "Alumnus of the Year" in 1974. He has given generously of his time and money because it is an important part of his life. He is a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon. He has been active in his local dental society and served as state delegate and clinician for many years and as committee chairman in many capacities.

In 1971, after Jack attended many courses on Implantology, he decided to incorporate this phase of dentistry into his practice. It has continued to grow as his interest and knowledge expands. He has published several articles on Implants. He was one of the Founders of Oregon Research Implant Seminars and served as President for two years. He is a member of the American Academy of Implant Dentistry (A.A.I.D.) and at present, serves on the Administration & Credentials Committee, Education and Public Relation Committee and the Editorial board. He has given many courses on Implantology. "Implantology, to me, is a challenge and a new horizon for Dentistry."

He has his Fellowship in the American College of Dentists, American Society of Anesthesiology and is a member of Oregon & American Society of Oral and Maxofacial Surgery.

While housing and working with (and for) young people, his dedication for physical fitness led to the construction of a first-class gym in his basement for himself and the boys. His involvement with the youth of his church and a police friend, started him in a strange life in undercover narcotics with Multnomah County Police of Portland. He now confines his narcotic life lecturing to professional and civic organizations throughout the western states, using underworld characters and a narcotic agent . . . to put his point across. This lecture has been presented at the Oregon Dental School each year.

Jack goes to the office at 6:30 a.m. in order to leave early in the afternoon to spend time in the gym and running. The 10,000 meter races are great, with his daughter, Beth, and extended family members participating at different times.

Jack's hobbies are dentistry, continuing education courses of all types, Collecting Western Art and history in book and picture form, hunting, and fishing. The salmon fishing trips are a "family" affair and arrangements are made a year in advance.

Jack thinks he has it made, with friends, church, family and work that you enjoy . . . what more could you ask for? Their doorlatch is open to everyone!

Ruth, Jack & Beth with "Extended Family" at the end of a successful, deep sea, Salmon trip. (Oregon's limit is two salmon per person each day)

1980 ICD Journalism Awards

GOLDEN SCROLL
GOLDEN PEN
GOLDEN PENCIL
SPECIAL CITATIONS

All publications in the U.S.A. that are associated directly or indirectly with dentistry are invited to enter the annual competition sponsored by the U.S.A. Section of the I.C.D. The competition came into being in 1971 with the first awards being made in New Orleans on April 17, 1972 in conjunction with the A.D.A. conference on Journalism.

The awards Committee feels that all dental related publications regardless of physical size or distribution are worthy of consideration. Newsletters, Bulletins, Auxiliary publications, Student publications, Scientific Journals, Proprietary publications, Component Journals, State Journals, any and all publications will be accepted and judged impartially.

To accomplish this goal the committee has set up two divisions for the 1981 Awards. The publications with large circulation, budgets, etc., will be judged against comparable publications. The smaller publications will now be judged solely against similar publications.

The new entry forms will have a series of questions that will provide the committee with sufficient information to place each entry in the proper division.

The Awards Banquet — 1980

The International College of Dentists had an extremely successful Awards presentation in conjunction with the A.D.A. Council on Journalism's Annual Conference. The Banquet was held on April 14, 1980 in Lake Buena, Florida on April 14, 1980. The I.C.D. wishes to acknowledge the support of the Council and American Association of Dental Editors in furthering dental Journalism throughout the U.S.A. The conferences brought together editors from all over the U.S.A. for seminars on Journalism, ranging from production to the legal problems in publication.

The 1981 Awards of the I.C.D. will be held in San Diego, California on March 9, 1981 again in conjunction with the A.D.A. Journalism Conference. Anyone interested in Journalism wanting to enjoy an excellent learning experience while enjoying good fellowship and the California sun should make it a must for next year.

Operation Outreach

The U.S.A. Section of the I.C.D. has selected as a project, the furnishing of books and periodicals to the Fellows of Section 30, which is located in the Philippines. These publications will be placed in the libraries of their dental schools, as the Philippine government will not contribute to the support of the dental schools until they have 250,000 books or periodicals on their library shelves.

This project originated when Fellow RAY GROVE of Omaha, Nebraska met with College members on the I.C.D. tour to the Orient. From this friendship developed the knowledge of their need. The first shipment has already left Creighton University, but we need more books to ensure the success of this project.

President of the College, Admiral GEORGE SELFRIDGE, who is Dean of the Washington University School of Dental Medicine, has obtained the cooperation of the United States Navy. All periodicals and books will be shipped to the Naval Station in San Diego where they will be picked up and transported aboard U.S. Navy vessels that have a dental officer on board. They will be shipped to Subic Naval Base in the Philippines where they will be received by a designated U.S. Navy dental officer, who will present the collected material to the International College representative, Fellow LUZ MACAPANPAN and to the representative of the Philippine Dental Association, Fellow DOMINADOR SANTOS the former President of the Philippines Section of the I.C.D.

This is a project in which every member of the Section can participate either by a cash donation directly to the local group or a donation of books themselves. Each individual District and the local groups can supply the funds to mail the periodicals and books collected to San Diego.

To aid in this project contact your local librarian and request that they contribute any duplicate copies of dental books and periodicals. Please have them box the books and periodicals and place a shipping label made out to:

It will provide for students to formally or informally enroll in the sister schools and will encourage enrollment in advanced education and continuing education at the sister schools by graduates of each institution. Dean ALLEN emphasizing the signing of the agreement stated "Joining together of two institutions similar in purpose, but different in geographical location and age, should result in benefits to these two institutions and to dental education at large."

Visiting Students

Every year, large groups of Japanese attend a 10-day postgraduate seminar at University of Oregon Health Sciences Center School of Dentistry in the Continuing Education Department. This group was headed by Fellow KIYOKAZU YOSHIMURA, a distinguished faculty member and Lecturer in Microbiology at Osaka Dental University and Gifu College of Dentistry. He was recently presented an award by the Crown Prince on behalf of his Emperor for his outstanding work among the lepers in the leprosariums of Japan.

This was Fellow YOSHIMURA'S eleventh trip to our dental school for continuing education courses, and he is very pleased that his American colleagues have given him an American nickname, "Moose." His daughter, TAMIKO, a dental student, accompanied him on this trip. Dr. HIROSHI UENO, Professor of Dentistry, Fixed Prosthodontics Department, is the course coordinator and chief interpreter for these groups from Japan.

PAUL LOFLIN, President of the USA Section, I.C.D., sent each Fellow of the Japanese Section and guests a sincere welcoming letter.

GEORGE COLLINGS and wife, RUTH, had the pleasure of hosting, in their home twenty-two of these Japanese dentists and their guests for cocktails and dinner. They represented various parts of Japan.

The Japanese are truly interested in Western food, music, and dentistry and were a grand bunch. Portland weather was at its best; cocktails were served with only western-style drinks (soft and hard) and western style dinner consisting of charcoal broiled steaks, baked beans, potatoes, fruit, salad, etc . . . ending with banana splits which each guest built for himself. If the Japanese could pick two American foods they especially like, they would be steak and banana splits.

Dr. GERRY THOMAS, who is an accomplished western singer and guitarist, played and sang western ballads with our guests making requests and joining on the chorus. Other young people included ELIZABETH COLLINGS (Senior dental student), CLARK WORTH, LESLIE LEHMANN, PETER COLLINGS and LAVINA FISCHER. As the evening progressed, Dr. HIROSHI UENO led the group in his version of Madame Butterfly. Other guests sang and taught us Japanese dances and ended the evening with "Ghost Riders in the Sky."

It was a rare privilege and honor to host such an appreciative and responsive group, getting to know them, and sharing on a one-to-one basis.

One of the strong points of the International College of Dentists is fellowship and exchange of knowledge. We all felt richer for the experience, and we were proud to share its true meaning.

The chain bears a beautiful medal insignia and golden bars on which the name of each

Chain of Office.

In Canada, the College is the most important body honoring all dental educators, specialists, general practitioners who have in one way or another contributed to the advancement of our profession and to its position of increased respect in the general community. . The College has ramifications throughout the world, bringing together deserving people who have made some meritorious contributions to dentistry. All those vested with authority and offered the respect of their confreres should be identified, the president of our Canadian section should be recognized among his peers.

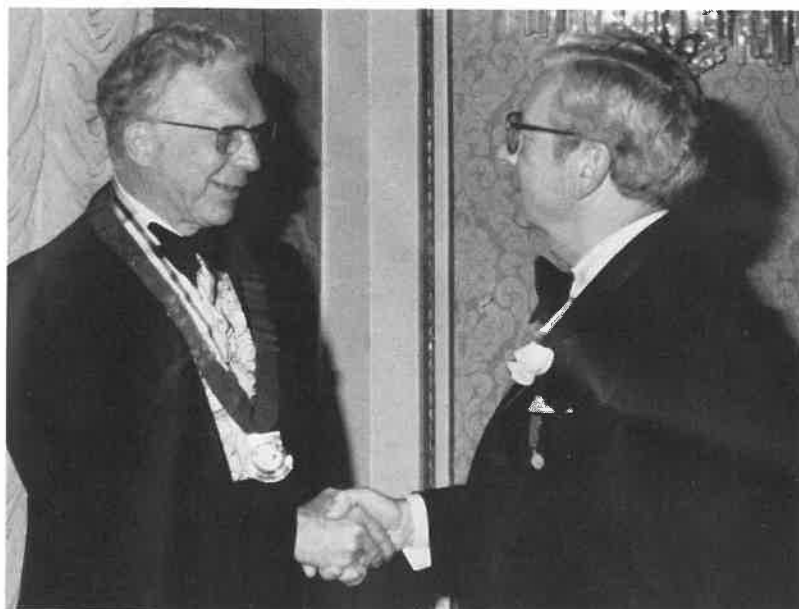

We wanted this jewel to be simple yet symbolic of the office it was to adorn. At my request, Fellow BILL SPENCE devised an attractive chain on which the names of future presidents may be inscribed to recall their participation in forwarding the ideals and goals of our College. At the same time, I wished that it might be a token of recognition to all the confreres who have been so friendly to me at all levels, local, provincial and national where I have been privileged to serve.

May all those who wear the chain in the years to come enjoy their association with the profession as much as I have during the last thirty-five years.

Mexican Section

A Challenge to Mexico's Fellows

Dr. Aurelio Herrero spoke at the induction ceremony on Oct. 31, 1979 to the newly inducted fellows of Mexico.

It is truly an honor for me to have been chosen as the spokesman for the colleagues newly inducted into the prized fellowship of the International College of Dentists. We appreciate the distinction awarded us. We are well aware that this institution grants this status only through individual invitation which deepens our satisfaction in being selected.

The achievements that resulted in our being singled out are varied: some have distinguished themselves in their scientific development; others in the field of public health or in sciences closely linked to dentistry; and others for their role as teachers. All of the achievements have the common denominator of raising the level of the profession and improving the procedures and techniques directed toward bettering man's health.

While it is true that the receipt of such an important reward brings with it an enormous satisfaction, we also are aware that satisfaction and responsibilities are never far removed from each other. This means that from this moment on in our professional lives we must set new goals for ourselves. It follows that we must now join forces with the older Fellows of the International College of Dentists in order to pursue the same objectives of constant striving for professional improvement, of ethics and of humanism, all of this leading to the overall goal of reducing the suffering of mankind by means of relieving pain.

On the other hand, we should make sure not to treat lightly those values, intangible but at the same time highly important, such as friendship, charity, love, and good counseling so sought after in these tiring times. We find ourselves so often yearning to see a smile or hear a friendly word or just grasp a brotherly hand extended toward us. We must beware not to fall into the trap of becoming so absorbed in our professional labors and responsibilities that we turn cold and impersonally indifferent. This would represent a dehumanization, which we must guard against, and always show in the face of the pain of others all of the deep feeling and love of which we are capable.

To conclude, I want to make it very clear that as of now, we join with all the other Fellows of the International College of Dentists, regardless of their countries of origin, to search with them for all the same objectives. We strive to reach the same goals with that degree of brotherhood that converts our group to become like one single person.

European Section

WALTER REIF

Introducing WALTER REIF President of the European Section

President REIF qualified in dentistry at the University of Bonn, Bonn, Germany, in 1928. He moved to London, England, in 1935 where he has practiced general dentistry for the past forty five years.

He became a founding member of the Anglo-Continental Dental Society and served as it's President for nine years.

Following World War II, he helped further international dentistry in England by stressing continuing education in bridge-work and endodontics.

Fellow REIF was elected to Fellowship in the International College of Dentists in 1960 and served as Regent for Great Britain, Ireland, Malta, and Cypress from 1965 to 1975. He was a founding member of the British Endodontic Society and served as its President in 1974.

WALTER REIF actively participated in the London (Metropolitan) Branch of the British Dental Association, serving as President of the Branch and Chairman of the Council.

At the 1979 Paris meeting of the European Section, Fellow REIF ended his address with the following comments that express his feeling concerning the College.

"I consider myself lucky in having within my span of life, the opportunity of doing the things which fulfill one's life and therefore gaining true happiness, and this true happiness I have found in the fellowship of this College. It is now twenty times that I have listened to and watched the Induction Ceremony when many most meritorious colleagues from all over Europe pledged themselves to play their part in the College. To be a member of a professional organization is useful and important, to be asked to join the fellowship of this College is fundamentally different and so are the obligations. I find that the groundswell of this fellowship cannot be simply explained intellectually. There is, for me and perhaps for a number of you, an emotional factor present which only one's heart can explain. Wherever you go in this world and wherever you meet a fellow, you meet a friend."

Florida - Japan Sisterhood in Dentistry

A sisterhood agreement has been established by the University of Florida College of Dentistry and the Tokyo Dental College for the purpose of mutual development of educational and research programs.

Representatives of the Japanese school who visited the University of Florida for the formal signing of the agreement on November 20 included Fellows SEIICHI MATSUMIYA, dean of Tokyo Dental College; TOSHIO KASHIMA, chairman of the Board of Directors; ICHIRO TAKAZOE, professor in the Department of Microbiology; and SEIJI KAWABE, president-elect of the Tokyo Dental College Alumni Society.

Representing the University of Florida in the signing were Dr. ROBERT Q. MAR-

STON, president of the University; Dr. WILLIAM B. DEAL, vice-president for Health Affairs, and Fellow DON L. ALLEN, dean of the College of Dentistry. Also present at the formal signing was Fellow FRANKLIN M. KENWARD, Secretary-general of the International College of Dentists, who had assisted with the development of the agreement.

The sisterhood agreement, which has been under development since 1977, establishes a program by which faculty members of each college may visit the sister institution to continue their education in the various disciplines of dentistry and in dental education. During these periods, the visiting faculty may assist in the education of dental students at the host school.

In Memoriam

We regret to inform you that MASAO MURASE, Executive Councilman of the College and Past President of the Japan Section died on November 25, 1979.

Faculty and technical staff may make short-term visits to share in the development of educational methods. The colleges will also collaborate on research projects. A liaison committee of faculty from both institutions will be appointed to develop projects of mutual interest.

Dental students will also benefit from the sisterhood agreement through a program which allows students to formally or informally enroll in the sister school. The agreement also encourages the enrollment in advanced education or continuing education programs at the sister college by graduates of each institution.

The Tokyo Dental College, the oldest of the 28 dental colleges in Japan, will celebrate its 90th anniversary in 1980. The college's graduates number over ten thousand.

Noting his great respect for the educational and research projects at the University of Florida College of Dentistry, Fellow MATSUMIYA expressed his hope that the sisterhood agreement will facilitate an understanding of each college's strong points and "contribute to the development of dentistry and the promotion of the welfare of mankind through our mutual cooperation."

Fellow DON ALLEN, emphasizing the significance of the agreement, stated "Joining together of two institutions similar in purpose, but different in geographical location and age, should result in benefits to these two institutions and to dental education at large."
